

LEVELS OF INVOLVEMENT

A few examples of how much involvement a project entails, from low to high

ONE-OFF EVENT: ORGANIZER

You find internal speakers, such as fellow advanced degrees or faculty, to participate in a one-time program. Increased involvement: secure a speaker external to the university or arrange a panel of external speakers.

ONE-OFF EVENT: CREATOR

You develop the content for a one-time program and then lead the session yourself. Increased involvement: you coordinate with other relevant stakeholders to develop and co-lead programming involving multiple relevant speakers, yourself included.

PROGRAMMING SERIES

You organize, identify speakers, develop content, or otherwise work to put on a series of related events that present a coherent, supportive professional development program.

PROGRAMMING + CONTENT

You develop programming that produces continuously-accessible, high-impact content that can be featured on the TCE website. Increased involvement: content resulting from programming series rather than one-off.
